Policy and Engagement

1PointFive

Hiroaki Sugimori is the Director of Policy and Engagement at 1PointFive, a global leader in direct air capture (DAC), providing scalable, affordable solutions to address emissions. 1PointFive is leading the commercialization of Carbon Engineering's ground-breaking technology that captures carbon dioxide directly from the atmosphere, providing two complementary solutions to help the aviation industry to address emissions: carbon dioxide removal and sustainable aviation fuel. His role focuses on promoting technology-based solutions and building partnerships with investors and off-takers, especially across the Asia-Pacific region and in sectors such as aviation and maritime.

Prior to joining 1PointFive, Hiroaki spent nearly 30 years in the airline industry. He led ANA's decarbonization team for 6 years, working on projects to control and reduce greenhouse gas emissions across the ANA group, with a strong focus on introducing SAF to the Japanese market. He also played a key role in launching the "SAF Flight Initiative Program", enabling ANA's corporate customers to participate in sustainability efforts.
